

"I was riveted by Ms Purdy's performance. It brought back memories of my childhood watching the ships being built at Fore River Shipyard,"
- Dave Drummond, author of, The Shipyard, Will It Float?

ROSIE the RIVETER REVISITED!

Diane Purdy, award winning actress, director, playwright, brings Rosie the Riveter back to life with her own riveting tales from 1941 to 1945 and beyond. Using Abigail Adams' words to hubby John, "Remember the Ladies," Ms Purdy regales us with stories on the lives of American women before, during and after World War II.

Ms Purdy talks to her audiences in a relaxed, informal format, bringing vivid images to life right before your eyes.

"I'll be happy to take questions from the audience. What I don't know, I'll find out for you and answer by e-mail. Feel free to e-chat with me anytime." dianepurdy@playsplus.com

Peek at PlaysPlus.com for Bio on Ms Purdy

Bring Rosie to your school or college or organization. $200 plus mileage will bring to your audience forty-five minutes of fun and frivolity plus a message which still needs to be heard.

Jodi Quinlan, Executive Director Fore River Watershed Association,
"What a fun, educational show! My field trip students insisted on going back for Ms Purdy's second performance, an unusual experience."

The Rosie the Riveter show was perfect. Everything from Diane Purdy's costume to her World War II stories were exactly what we pictured they'd be. Our daughter was enchanted."
- Mike and Sue Donovan Weymouth, parents of Rose.

"Diane Purdy brought Rosie to life for me and my staff," - Mike Condon, Executive Director of the US Naval Shipbuilding Museum.

Ron Adams, Massachusetts State Teacher of the Year, "Diane engages and entertains students, making the Home Front history of WWII women come alive. Her research is impressive, especially in the telling of the pioneering Quincy/Hingham female shipbuilders, known affectionately as the "Winnie the Welders."